The New Myth of the Cave – St. Gregory of Nyssa

The Church receives the light of truth through the porch of prophecy and the lattice of the law. The law was a wall of partition through which the original revelation came. The very truth could not pass through, but only a type or foreshadowing. But behind this wall of partition stands the truth which the type foreshadowed. The Church received the first rays of the Word of Truth through the Prophets. But the time came when the very Truth was revealed in the Gospel, and in its light the shadowy outlines of the type of prophecy fade, and the wall of partition is broken down. The house is thrown wide open, and the light of heaven pours in, mingling unhindered with the inner air. No longer need we contrive to catch a few dim rays through a tiny casement; for now the Gospel glory of the true Sun sheds its brightness on all within the house.

The One City of God – St. Augustine of Hippo

An orderly exposition of the faith demanded that the Church should be joined to the Trinity as a house to its owner, as a temple to its God, as a City to its founder. The Church is here to be considered not in any partial aspect but as a whole; not only as a Church on earth as it journeys on towards its goal, praising the name of the Lord from the rising of the sun even to its setting, singing a new song after its liberation from the old captivity; but also as the Church in heaven which ever since its foundation has cleaved to God and has never suffered in itself the evil of a fall. Set among the angels in blessedness it ever endures, and brings help, as is but right, to that part of itself which is still in its pilgrimage. For both will be one by sharing eternity together, are one already in bond of love, seeing that the whole Church was founded for the worship of the One God.
